

Welcome to the Restaurant Swiss-Chalet

It's a pleasure to welcome you. On our menu you will find classics, Swiss specialties, and seasonal dishes. We cook fresh and whenever possible with regional products, so that you can enjoy sustainable and healthy dishes.

We attach great importance to homemade ingredients without artificial additives and produce most of the ingredients of our dishes such as sauces, soups, side dishes and desserts as well as their bases ourselves.

If you have any questions about the preparation of our dishes or allergies, please contact our service team. We want to give you an all-round gastronomic experience of pleasure and a relaxing moment.

Enjoy your meal!

Appenzeller Beer

Since 1886 and for five generations, the Locher family have been brewing Appenzeller Bier. Our award-winning beers now include 40 different varieties. Fresh spring water, malted barley, hops and yeast are the foundation of what we create. Since 1999, the Säntis Malt Distillery has been producing fine single malt whiskies that have won several international awards. In the spirit of the traditional circular economy, we've added other delicious specialties based on by-products over the past three decades. Vinegar factory CréaCeto is creating exquisite beer balsamic vinegars. Thanks to our brewbee specialties, spent grain and other by-products from the brewing process get a second life as delicious and sustainable food products.

Whisky pure, with water or ice?

Whisky and especially single malts should be served pure and at room temperature. The temperature is the crucial point.

Some whiskey connoisseurs recommend adding a few drops of room temperature water to the whiskey. This can enhance the aromas. For heavily bottled whiskies and cask strength whiskies.

For a whisky on the rocks, only 1-2 ice cubes should be added to the glass. The ice can slowly melt and mix with the whisky. Suitable for Bourbon, Rye and Scotch.
